COOKING TIPS

To get the most out of your Kitchen Robot and achieve a tastier finish to your dishes, these tips will help you a lot:

- The Kitchen Robot can cook as you like, in a single step or in several steps, to achieve tastier results, in some recipes it is advisable to make a stir-fry beforehand, i.e. cook in two steps, first prepare the stir-fry and then continue with the steps of the recipe.
- To enhance the flavour of your dishes, make a stir-fry beforehand: in the FRY Menu with the lid open and at maximum power, preheat the bowl with oil and add the vegetables.
- If you want to programme a recipe that needs to be stir-fried beforehand, make the stir-fry first and then leave the corresponding Menu programmed, so that you get a tastier result.
- When cooking in the FRY Menu, it is advisable to keep the lid closed while the oil heats up, so that it heats up faster. The oil will be hot when the robot starts to count down the programmed time.
- While using the FRY Menu, you must stir the food so that it does not stick, since the power of this Menu is high and the food could stick to the bowl. You can cook with the lid open during the whole cooking process or open and close the lid each time you stir the food.
- When cooking in a bain-marie, with the STEW Menu, place the oven rack and place the baking bowl on top, cover with water up to half of the baking bowl where you are going to cook. To avoid spillage and to make it easier, place the bowl first and then pour whatever you are going to cook into the bowl.
- To grill fish or meat, it is advisable to heat the bowl with a little oil while you prepare the ingredients. Once the bowl is hot, put the meat or fish in, sear it on one side, then turn it over and finish preparing the dish in the corresponding Menu.
- When cooking in the Oven Menu, always use cooking temperature 1, unless the recipe specifically states otherwise.

- If, once the cooking process is finished, the recipe is not well done, it may be for several reasons: the temperature selected was not the right one, the quality of the food makes the cooking time longer or shorter, rectify the parameters and resume cooking or the size of the food was too big or too small.
- You can insert all types of ovenproof griddles or baking pans into the bowl of the Kitchen Robot, but if you use metal baking pans, be careful not to scratch the non-stick surface.
- When baking sponge cakes, do not open the lid until most of the programmed time has elapsed, because if the mixture contains yeast, the rising process will be stopped and the desired texture will not be achieved.
- If you do not select the correct cooking temperature in each Menu, it is possible that the food will be raw or burnt. For example, if liquids are added to the Oven function, the time will not start to count down until all the liquid has been consumed, so be careful when choosing this Menu unless it is indicated in the recipe.
- When food has been stuck or burnt in the bowl for some time, we recommend cleaning the bowl with the Self-Cleaning Menu, so that the food will come off more easily and no residue will remain in the bowl.

1 teaspoon neutral gelatin powder

ELABORATION

1 Peel the strawberries and reserve in a bowl. Add the sugar and the juice of half a lemon to the bowl and stir well. Let it rest for 1 hour.

2 Put them in the bowl and set the JAM Menu, temperature 1. For 45 minutes. Add the water and a teaspoon of neutral powdered gelatin. When steam starts to come out, open the lid.

3 After 20 minutes, stir a little and let it finish.

4 When the program is finished, move to a bowl and when it is cold put it in a mixer until you get the texture that you like.

5 Transfer the jam to a glass jar and let it cool a bit before closing it with its lid. Finally, put it in the fridge for a minimum of 8 hours.
